

Depression is more than just feeling blue, down, or having a bad day. It is a form of mental illness that affects the entire person – it changes the way one feels, thinks and behaves. Symptoms include: persistent sadness and/or irritability; change in appetite; disrupted sleep patterns; change in activity level; impaired attention and concentration; and markedly decreased feelings of self-worth. It is not a personal weakness or a character flaw and a person will not just ‘snap out of it’. Below is a list of resources that can be helpful in understanding those experiences as well as how to support those around you.
